Amendments Proposed by State Department for
U. S. Doctrinal Program, PSB D-33/2

1. No changes whatever are made in the two most important aspects of the Program: Proposal I for an International Doctrinal Institute, and Proposal II for increased commercial distribution of American books and a book distribution guarantee.

They have been eliminated

2. Introductory section and Annex "A" have been extensively re-written, and Annex "A" has been split in two parts, now labelled Annex "A" (Definitions) and Annex "C" (Analysis of the Problem). Result is a shorter text and fewer mandatory requirements on State; otherwise mostly a matter of phraseology.

3. Paragraph 3(c) in the original text is omitted from the amended draft: "Any U. S. doctrinal program sufficient to forward substantially the goals set forth in this paper requires budgetary allocation of new funds, not merely a shift in current emphases."

4. One amendment is the following (paragraph (b) under 4. Summarized Basic Tasks):

Original Text

The following planning tasks indicate to the participating departments and agencies what will be included in their implementing doctrinal plans.

Amended Text

The following planning tasks indicate to the participating departments and agencies what could be included in their implementing doctrinal plans.

However, there was already an escape clause in the original draft, preceding the list of specific tasks: "All facilities will be employed, as feasible, to support and further this doctrinal program."

5. No changes are suggested in tasks assigned to Defense (4e) or Other Departments and Agencies (4f).

6. The rewrite of Annex "A" (new Annex "A" plus "C") does not affect the substance of the PSB proposals.
